

Site Tour Invitation of Shanghai Luojing Timber Free Trade Area

Shanghai, locates in the foreland of Yangtze River Delta and in the intersection of the domestic and overseas transport channels, accounts for about 30% of China's annual throughput. Due to the development of Shanghai financial, shipping and trade center, Shanghai's timber industry is developing rapidly with the average annual growth of up to 100%. Moreover, Shanghai's import of woods and relevant wooden products reached a record high of 30 million cubic meters in 2014 and it has become an important distribution center and a major import & export base of China's timber and wooden products.

Shanghai Baoshan district sits on the estuary of Yangtze River with one and only 100000 ton harbor in this area as Luojing port and has been a traditional raw materials procurement base of China's forestry industry, which credited to its distinctive industrial characteristics as "numerous timber varieties, long industrial history and high degree of specialization". Due to the influences of China (Shanghai) free trade zone, the first timber FTA in China will officially run at Baoshao Luojing port in October 2015.

After the establishment of Baoshan Timber FTA, Luojing Harbor will surpass Taicang Harbor becoming the China's most important port for timber trade with functions of distribution, transport, processing and sales etc..

DOMOTEX asia/CHINAFLOOR is the largest wood flooring trade exhibition, during its long and successful history, has obtained international recognition and influence. International buyers and sellers of woods and wooden products from 50 countries make up for 25.5% of a total of approximately 45,000 visitors that visit the show each year. 17th DOMOTEX asia/CHINAFLOOR coincides with the forthcoming operation of Shanghai Luojing Timber FTA. Based on this background, the Administrative Committee of Shanghai, Baoshan Luojing Timber FTA will associate with FSC in hosting Luojing Timber FTA site tour in line with "Sustainable flooring products market trend" forum organized by FSC in Shanghai, China on March 25th, 2014.
